Sisters Hospital Foundation

On behalf of the Foundations of Catholic Health, I am humbled and honored to present the 2020 Gratitude Report, featuring our five Foundations: Continuing & Home Care Foundation, Kenmore Mercy Foundation, Mercy Hospital Foundation, Mount St. Mary's Hospital Foundation and Sisters Hospital Foundation.

The gratitude expressed in the following pages recognizes your generous support of the Foundations during an unprecedented and challenging year in healthcare. As the COVID-19 pandemic impacted the nation and the world, your help enabled our healthcare heroes to persevere and demonstrate the right way to care.

Despite enduring long days, uncertainty and often times disheartening grief, our heroes cared for those in need with compassion and an unwavering faith as our mission calls us to do every day.

Through continued support of our hospitals, home care agencies and community-based ministries, such as Long Term Care, you have stood right beside each and every caregiver, encouraging them by helping to fund medical advances and new technologies necessary to care for people during vulnerable times. The stories in this report offer just a few examples of how by giving to the Foundations of Catholic Health your heroic support truly makes a difference, as Catholic Health, in spite of the pandemic, continues to lead the transformation of health care throughout our community.

We understand that healthcare heroes are also found beyond the patient's bedside. Therefore, we express our sincere thanks to our board members, associates, benefactors, and other supporters who share our healthcare mission rooted in our healing Christian faith. Catholic Health's healing ministry has never been more important as our healthcare heroes continue to work tirelessly to stem the tide of the pandemic and rebuild our services for those in need. Thank you for your continued support of the Foundations of Catholic Health.

Sincerely,

Mark A. Sullivan

Grateful patient Craig Shaffer with partner Cindy Cieslinski, at Mercy Hospital of Buffalo.

Care for the long haul

I have learned that “superheroes” are real, and some live right here in Western New York. One of my “superheroes” is a medical device: the Extracorporeal Membrane Oxygenation (ECMO). This past April it saved my long-time partner Craig Shaffer’s life.

After contracting COVID-19, Craig spent five days on a ventilator at Sisters Hospital, St. Joseph Campus, New York State’s first dedicated COVID-19 hospital. He was taken to Mercy Hospital, where Dr. Harsh Jain, a cardiac surgeon and the director of the ECMO program, calmly explained that we had one more chance. While on the ECMO for 23 days, Craig’s heart and lungs were given an opportunity to rest. It allowed him to fight the virus as the ECMO took over for his cardiac and respiratory support.

From there, the human “superheroes” took over. Because of the contagious nature of COVID-19, I was unable to be by Craig’s side. However, I knew that the team in the Cardiovascular ICU (CVICU) at Mercy Hospital was there surrounding him with their hearts, while his rested.

They cared for me too. The staff arranged for daily virtual visits on iPads, which allowed Craig to hear my voice. At night a CVICU nurse named Michelle would call to reassure me of Craig’s progress. Dr. Brian Davis, a physician in that unit, remained positive while providing heartfelt support following the one visit I had with Craig.

I felt the compassion they had for both of us and knew, without a doubt, that Craig wasn’t alone. Superheroes were there for both of us. By July he came home having defeated COVID-19!

When the wonders of medicine meet the compassion and faith of the human heart, anything is possible.

Dr. Tai-Soon Choi with MaryAnn Murphy, Director of Nursing, Patient Care Services at Mercy Hospital of Buffalo.

Donor Spotlight

A plan for giving

Dr. Tai-Soon Choi was a pioneer in caring for mothers and babies at Mercy Hospital. A neonatal medicine specialist, he was the founder of the hospital's Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU), a Level II facility that cares for babies born prematurely or those with certain health conditions. Dr. Choi dedicated his life to saving the lives of the most vulnerable infants, and his accomplishments at Mercy Hospital were many over a career that spanned decades.

Born in Korea, Dr. Choi earned his medical degree in Seoul. He moved his family to Western New York in the 1960s and interned at Mercy Hospital, before completing his residency at Children's Hospital of Buffalo. He returned to practice at Mercy Hospital and was board certified in neonatology.

While Dr. Choi's innovative patient care itself was heroic, he also found ways outside of the NICU to support the hospital he loved. He was a consistent donor to the Foundation's medical staff campaigns and, while still working, he initiated a planned gift to benefit the hospital upon his passing.

Upon retirement, Dr. Choi moved to Pennsylvania, outside of Pittsburgh, where he enjoyed time with his wife, three children and six grandchildren. He recently passed away at the age of 85, and his significant gift was put in place by the Foundation to support Mercy Hospital. His family members remember his work at Mercy fondly and say they are not surprised by his generosity in leaving the gift.

"Dr. Choi's gift means his philanthropic spirit continues as sustainable support for the hospital even though he has passed," Deanna Messinger, executive director of Mercy Hospital Foundation concludes. "We are grateful to him, other caregivers and those in the community that have followed his lead to create similar planned gifts."

Grateful patient Kaitlyn Grande and daughter Mila, with Kaitlyn's mom, long-time volunteer at Mount St. Mary's.

Nurturing joy

As first-time parents, having a baby was stressful enough for my husband and me. Delivering our daughter, Mila, during the COVID-19 pandemic took that stress to a whole new level.

But we are so grateful for the care we received at Mount St. Mary's Hospital where Mila was born. We were treated like family at every step. The doctors and nurses were calm and comforting, even as they navigated uncharted territory in the early months of the pandemic.

Our safety was their top priority. The staff did an excellent job of balancing the realities of the virus with the excitement of welcoming our child into the world. While the hospital could not allow visitors, my husband Alex was by my side and the staff made sure that we were safe.

Dr. Joseph Andrzejewski, my OB/GYN at The Center for Women at Mount St. Mary's, was there for us even before we arrived. He gave us his cell phone number to call when we thought we were getting close. When the contractions began and we called Dr. Joe, he guided us on what to do and reassured us that they were more than prepared with safety and protection protocols.

Mila was born the morning of March 24th—just six days into New York State's Stay-At-Home order. The gift of her birth actually helped my husband, Alex and I forget about the pandemic for a while and focus on the miracle right in front of our eyes. Since Mila's grandparents could not visit at the hospital, the staff ensured we had technology in place to celebrate her special arrival.

Mount St. Mary's Hospital made a trying time better. Mila is a happy and healthy baby today, and we will never forget the doctors, nurses and staff who made it possible.

When patients are treated like family, anything is possible.

Experience

Our healthcare heroes have the experience to meet unexpected challenges in caring for patients. They've also experienced tremendous support from donors who step up to help.

Anthony DiMino, owner of Tops Friendly Markets, in the Village of Lewiston.

Donor Spotlight

Care to give

Like so many events during the pandemic, Mount St. Mary's Hospital's annual gala was canceled, leaving a critical hole in fundraising efforts at a time when the need was greater than ever.

In place of the gala, the hospital introduced the Care to Give campaign last fall, a community-wide effort that saw an exceptional response from businesses and individuals in the Lewiston/Niagara Falls area. One of our key community responders was Anthony DiMino, owner of Tops Friendly Markets, in the Village of Lewiston, a generous supporter of Mount St. Mary's for decades.

As he and his family have done countless times, DiMino stepped in to help, chairing the Care to Give campaign, increasing his own annual gift, and creating a campaign within a campaign during which his customers could round up their totals at the checkout with proceeds benefiting Mount St. Mary's.

DiMino's long-time experience with the hospital meant he understood the challenges presented by the pandemic. So he also donated bags of snacks, fruit and bottled water to support the health care heroes at Mount St. Mary's.

"You could say our family has had a 50-year love affair with Mount St. Mary's Hospital going back to when my parents donated to help build a new addition in the 1970s," DiMino explains. "When the Foundation asked for help during the pandemic, we did not hesitate. I don't know what we would do without the hospital in our community."

In addition to Tops, dozens of businesses down Center Street in Lewiston followed DiMino's lead and asked customers to round up their purchases to help the hospital. The campaign raised nearly $100,000, which will support a $1 million commitment the Mount St. Mary's Foundation made to support several areas including the emergency department, cardiology, surgery, respiratory, labs, and outpatient clinics.

at Sisters Hospital.

Unexpected comfort

It still astounds me that I was among the first patients admitted to the Sisters Hospital St. Joseph Campus for COVID-19.

You see, I am young, healthy, and into sports, including tennis and coaching basketball. So when I was sick for about a week in March, I became concerned. I contacted Dr. Norman Sfeir as well as Dr. Mark Podlas, family friends who are on staff at Sisters Hospital. Understanding how quickly COVID-19 was spreading at the time, they each urged me to go to the emergency room at Sisters' Main Street Campus.

At the hospital they discovered my blood oxygen levels were low. I tested positive for COVID-19. I was immediately admitted into the Sisters Hospital ICU, where I spent four days. With my family living out of state, they were unable to visit because of the pandemic. It was a very lonely experience. But the doctors, nurses, and staff were comforting and reassuring.

When the medical staff began seeing some improvement, I was transferred to Sisters Hospital St. Joseph Campus. While there I continued to improve.

Everyone at St. Joseph Campus provided incredible care, and they helped me keep a positive attitude. After another four days I was released from St. Joseph Campus. Within a couple of weeks I was back to work and feeling well.

Through it all I came to understand how important both Sisters Hospital Main Street Campus and St. Joseph Campus are to our community. As the first COVID hospital in New York State, St. Joseph Campus was a testament to great leadership and high-level care.

I am back to work—back to living—because of these two Sisters of Charity Hospital campuses.

When excellent care meets innovative leadership, anything is possible.

Collaboration

The legion of healthcare heroes at Catholic Health know they are better together, collaborating in the best interest of the patient. Generous supporters help take teamwork to the next level.

Recipe for caring

Kraving Thyme Family Meal Prep, in Niagara Falls, opened at the beginning of the pandemic, and while many area businesses were negatively impacted by COVID-19, the meal prep and delivery service actually saw sales grow. The company offers healthy meal options for individuals and families which can be picked up by the customer or delivered to their home, filling an important need during early pandemic lockdowns.

Founder and owner, Tom Orlandi, recognized his good fortune and decided to pay it forward, expressing his gratitude by helping out the nurses and medical professionals on the front lines. Orlandi and his team donated and delivered a variety of more than 150 meals to Sisters Hospital healthcare workers in the mother and baby unit, as well as more than 100 breakfast meals to the St. Joseph campus.

"We were so grateful to Tom and his team at Kraving Thyme for their generous food donations during the height of the pandemic," said Traci Linn Tracey, RN, Nurse manager of the Mother Baby Unit. "Their amazing food filled our bellies and our souls with the energy that we needed to deliver the best possible care to our moms and babies."

Kraving Thyme's generosity demonstrates the importance of community collaboration in helping our healthcare heroes serve patients with a great sense of responsibility, courage, and compassionate care.

Patient Walter Monahan with his family prior to his passing.

Family support

My dad, Walter Monahan, meant so many things to so many people. He was the bedrock of our family; a husband and father, grandfather, US Navy veteran, and Eucharist minister at his church. Sadly, in March of last year, he was also one of the first people in Erie County to die from COVID-19.

My dad was healthy, having had his annual physical in early March, which he passed with flying colors. But the very next day he felt ill. He thought it was the usual spring cold. A few days went by, and my mother noticed my dad having trouble breathing, and his fingertips were purple. She called 911 and he was rushed to Kenmore Mercy.

It was early in the pandemic, and coronavirus was the last thing on our minds. We were shocked to learn my dad tested positive for COVID-19.

The next morning, my father was placed on a ventilator and was in critical condition. Dr. Michael Gough and Dr. Thomas Brewer recognized my family's distress and made it possible for us to FaceTime with my dad. It was a gift to speak to my father and express our love.

My father continued to decline and it became clear he would not recover. The doctors and nurses found enough personal protective equipment for my mom, brother and me to enter the room and say our last good-byes. That was another huge gift. My dad passed in late March, just days after his seventy-fourth birthday.

The care we received at Kenmore Mercy during an unprecedented pandemic showed how much the hospital means to our community. Kenmore Mercy was there for us under incredible stress and uncertainty.

When patients are treated like family, anything is possible.

Lee Ann and Tom Vogt, supporters of Kenmore Mercy Foundation.

Leading angels

Lee Ann and Tom Vogt are familiar faces at Kenmore Mercy Foundation's annual Tribute to Angels fundraiser to benefit the hospital. From the Town of Tonawanda, NY, the couple has participated in the event for years, with Lee Ann serving as co-chair in the past, Tom and his company sponsoring tables, and both of them contributing countless volunteer hours. They continued to participate during the COVID-19 crisis when the signature fundraising gala was transformed into an online auction. The event is just one of many ways the Vogts support Kenmore Mercy Hospital.

Lee Ann began volunteering in the 1980s, when she was a medical assistant for a doctor near the hospital. She volunteered in the evenings, walking a hospitality cart to different patient areas, in the OB Clinic, and as a member of Kenmore Mercy's Junior Board. Lee Ann has been a board member of the Kenmore Mercy Foundation since 2015 and currently serves as secretary.

Likewise, Tom has supported the hospital for years by supporting the Foundation's annual golf outing, and through this company, Vogt Sprinkler Service, Inc. donated services to install fire sprinkler equipment during the hospital's emergency department renovation.

With four children, the Vogts say they recognize the importance of Kenmore Mercy as a community asset, providing the highest quality of patient care. Lee Ann adds that she has always felt the need to help, noting that she was raised by a single mother and was fortunate to have the support of others in the community.

"It is an honor to be associated with an institution such as Kenmore Mercy Hospital," Lee Ann concludes. "Over the years, we have seen how hard the doctors and nurses work to care for their patients, especially during the pandemic, and we are so grateful that we are able to contribute."

Rosemarie Montreuil, grateful patient at Catholic Health LIFE Center.

Feeling at home

The Catholic Health LIFE Center, on the Villa Maria College campus, has connected me to so many wonderful friends and caregivers.

But during the COVID-19 pandemic, the LIFE Center became my lifeline.

I have lived on my own in senior housing for several years. Last fall, I began attending the LIFE program, and as an active and social person, I love it! Two days a week they would pick me up and bring me to the center, where we enjoy all kinds of activities: exercise programs, crafts, painting, entertainment and so much more. Plus, my doctor appointments, medications, speech therapy and other health issues were being managed for me.

Then the pandemic hit.

When I heard the center would have to temporarily close because of COVID-19, I was heartbroken. For older adults like me, the thought of being alone and isolated during the shutdown was distressing. My son and grandchildren live out of the area. The coronavirus meant they could not visit me.

I should have known the good people at the LIFE Center would look out for me. Cathy Wetzler, the recreation coordinator at the center, called me right away, reassuring me that they would help. In the weeks ahead, Cathy and other staff members would call or FaceTime a couple of times a day to check in on me. They arranged for social groups to talk over the phone so I could keep in touch with my friends from the LIFE Center. I was even able to continue my speech therapy from my home. Such a godsend.

Catholic Health Home Services and the LIFE Center have been more important than ever for older adults like me during this pandemic. I don't know how I would have managed without them.

Center of care

COVID-19 presented especially daunting challenges for Catholic Health's Home and Continuing Care programs. The population our programs serve—seniors and older adults—was at the greatest risk of death from the virus due to weakened immune systems or pre-existing health conditions. With a mission to always put our patients first, we set out to meet these challenges through creative solutions that would mitigate the risks while maintaining the excellence of care for this especially vulnerable population.

One solution was the opening of a post-acute recovery site in Orchard Park, the only such facility in NYS, as Catholic Health partnered with another area long-term care provider to create the unique St. Joseph Post-Acute Center (SJPAC). As positive tests continued to increase in long-term care locations, it was a challenge to quarantine so many patients on-site. What's more, older adults who were without symptoms but still testing positive for COVID-19 could not be discharged to a group setting, like their home, at a long-term care facility. SJPAC would serve to reduce the number of seniors potentially spreading COVID among fellow residents and give the discharged patients the greatest chance of recovery.

As the pandemic raged, Catholic Health had to act quickly in getting the center open. A generous $500,000 grant from the Mother Cabrini Health Foundation in New York City was key to expediting the center, which had an 80-bed capacity.

"The Mother Cabrini Health Foundation acted swiftly to address the health-related needs of underserved and vulnerable New Yorkers across the state during the pandemic," explained Bob Varettoni, director of communications. "The Foundation granted $500,000 to Catholic Health to reduce the risk COVID-19 posed to older adults by creating the St. Joseph Recovery Center. We were proud to support Catholic Health in their efforts."

The SJPAC center operated for several months, providing care to more than 186 senior patients. In addition to the Mother Cabrini Health Foundation grant, several other donors enabled the Continuing Care Foundation to fund the quality resources and care necessary for these patients.

Caring for Catholic Health

Our neighbors from all over Western New York stepped up in 2020 to help our frontline heroes, some even delivering donations of food and support to caregivers all across the Catholic Health System. We are grateful to all of our donors, in particular those who truly went above and beyond to stand behind the 9,000+ associates who make up the Catholic Health family.

The fact is, it would take countless more pages to recognize everyone who stood behind the healthcare heroes across the entire organization of Catholic Health with donations and volunteer efforts large and small. Following are just a few examples to demonstrate the care and compassion we were so fortunate to receive from the Western New York community:

Wegmans donated food to our healthcare heroes fighting the COVID-19 pandemic, providing vital resources to each of our five foundations. During the height of the pandemic, Wegmans also provided a weekly bounty of healthy and hydrating products that helped keep spirits high.

WNY Feeds the Front Line, a nonprofit created by Dan Greene and Associates, directly responded to the COVID-19 pandemic with a two-fold mission. They offered essential support to frontline healthcare workers by providing them with meals, and kept restaurants running as a result. WNY Feeds the Front Line organized and distributed nearly 10,000 meals at Catholic Health.

Zoladz Construction delivered 3,000 meals to Catholic Health's healthcare heroes during the toughest days of the pandemic. Our staff is so appreciative of this selfless act that helped brighten their day.

Ralph C. Wilson Jr. Foundation awarded $150,000 to help caregivers (particularly nurse aids), environmental, and food services staff, who may not have access to financial and social support, while playing equally critical roles in healthcare. This funding allowed our Foundations to thank our nurse aids, environmental, and food services staff with a CHEER! award to thank them for their dedication and resiliency, as well as assist with associated bereavement costs.

Your Generosity

Supporting Patient Care in 2020

Our physicians, nurses, and caregivers provide outstanding care to our patients every day. The Foundations of Catholic Health are there to ensure our team can provide quality care. What we are able to do together leads to so many positive, uplifting moments for our patients.
